

Recognized for Workplace Health Promotion Programs Singapore HEALTH Award (Silver category) 2010

Brother Singapore has won the Silver Award for the Singapore Health Award (SHA) 2010.

This biennial event recognizes exemplary Workplace Health Promotion programs by corporations that promote health at work.

We have won the Bronze Award back in 2008, this Silver Award has further endorsed Brother Singapore's Management and Associates sustained and persistent efforts in enhancing our work environment.

We recognize workplace health is a long term commitment that requires both strong support from our Management and Associates in order to reap tangible results.

This award would not have been possible without our enthusiastic and ever supportive participants of our health promotion programs!

We will continue to seek improvement in our health activities to enhance the well being of our Associates and provide a working environment that is conducive for good health.

Group photograph of Silver Award winners